Download qMetro Best application to use while planning a trip to a foreign city. 24 May 2012 Steve George 1773 days ago You can try saying while talking to a salesman. a) I like c) I don't like b) I really like c) I don't know a) I can't b) I can't c) I can The words 'alarm' and 'crisis' appear to be very close to each other, which makes it difficult to pinpoint which one is the correct one. We would suggest 'alarm' as the correct answer, as it is the only answer that appears in red and therefore stands out from the other answers. P.S: Don't forget to check out what other people are saying on Quizlet! I have been trying to work out when to use the possessive apostrophe, but I am starting to get confused about it. I think it could be useful for the final as it makes the wording more clear. Q. Which was the correct sentence? a) The Sun is responsible for the extra hour in the clock. b) The Sun's responsible for the extra hour in the clock. c) The Sun is responsible for the extra hour in the clock. You can try saying while talking to a salesman. a) I like b) I don't like c) I really like d) I don't know A. a) What we said: The Sun's responsible for the extra hour in the clock. P.S: Don't forget to check out what other people are saying on Quizlet! The original idea came from my girlfriend, and it seems like it is a good way to remember words. Here is a challenge for you. Take a piece of paper and write 'baby' on it, as it is the first word you learned and you wanted to make sure you remembered it. Now, change the letters so that the word reads 'babe'. What happened? You can try saying while talking to a salesman. a) I like b) I don't like c) I really like d) I don't know The answer is: 'I can't'. When you learn a word, you have to remember it. The only way to ensure that you do is to use it. In this case, you would say 'I can't', instead of 'I don't know'. Q. What is the difference between a deodorant and a perfume?
